What is this product?

The Fund is a sub-fund of the Company which is constituted in the form of a mutual fund. The Company is domiciled in Ireland and established as an umbrella fund with segregated liability between sub-funds. The Company's home regulator is the Central Bank of Ireland (the "Central Bank").

Objective and Investment Strategy

The Fund's investment objective is to seek long-term growth of capital, by using a mathematical portfolio management process to construct an investment portfolio from a universe of equities and equity related securities within the Fund's benchmark index.

The Fund pursues its objective by investing at least 80% of its net asset value in equities (also known as company shares) and equity -related securities (e.g. American Depositary Receipts) of US companies whose market capitalisation is at least equal to the market capitalisation of one of the companies listed in the S&P 500® Index at the time of purchase. The Fund does not intend to focus on investment in relation to any particular industry or sector.

The Fund will not enter into financial derivative instruments ("FDI") (other than warrants which may be acquired in corporate actions (e.g. by way of bonus issue) or for efficient portfolio management or hedging purposes, including currency hedging purposes at share class level). The Fund will not invest in FDI for investment purposes.

The Fund seeks to outperform the S&P 500® Index by at least 3% per annum, before the deduction of charges, over any 5 year period.

The Fund is actively managed with reference to the S&P 500® Index, which is broadly representative of the companies in which it may invest, as this forms the basis of the Fund's performance target. The Sub-Investment Adviser has a mathematical approach to investing which controls the extent to which the portfolio may differ from the index. There is no guarantee that the Fund's performance will match or exceed that benchmark. The Sub-Investment Adviser has a mathematical investment process that constructs portfolios of securities with higher average stock volatility than the S&P 500® Index and combining those securities in a manner that does not increase the overall portfolio volatility above that of the S&P 500® Index. More volatile equities may tend to reside on the smaller cap end of the S&P 500® Index.

The Sub-Investment Adviser approaches risk management from a perspective that evaluates risk relative to a direct investment in the S&P 500® Index. Risk controls are designed to minimise the risk of significant underperformance relative to the S&P 500® Index. The Sub-Investment Adviser applies a mathematical investment process to build a portfolio in a more efficient combination than the S&P 500® Index. The process seeks to capitalise on the natural volatility of the market by searching for equities within the index that have high relative volatility (providing the potential for excess returns) but that essentially move in opposite directions or have low correlation to each other (providing the potential for lower relative risk). By constructing the portfolio in this manner and regularly rebalancing the portfolio to maintain potentially more efficient weightings, the Sub-Investment Adviser's mathematical investment process seeks to create a portfolio that, over time, produces returns in excess of the S&P 500® Index with an equal or lesser amount of risk.

The Fund will not invest more than 10% of its net asset value in securities issued or guaranteed by a single country (including its government, a public or local authority of that country) with a credit rating below investment grade.

Under exceptional circumstances (e.g. emergency market conditions), the Fund may not adhere to its investment policies as disclosed, and may temporarily hold up to 100% of its net asset value in cash or invest in money market instruments, short-term debt securities issued or guaranteed by national governments located globally; short-term corporate debt securities including freely transferable promissory notes, debentures, bonds (including zero coupon bonds), convertible and non-convertible notes, commercial paper, certificates of deposits, and bankers acceptances to preserve the value of the Fund or limit losses.

The Fund may engage in securities financing transactions, including securities lending, sale and repurchase and/or reverse repurchase transactions, for up to 50% of its net asset value in aggregate.

Use of Derivatives

The Fund's net derivative exposure may be up to 50% of the Fund's net asset value.

What are the key risks?

Investment involves risks. Please refer to the Hong Kong Offering Document for details including the risk factors.

1. General Investment Risk

There can be no assurance that the Fund will achieve the desired results of its specific investment objective and strategy under all circumstances and market conditions. The net asset value of the Fund may rise or fall, as the capital value of the securities in which the Fund invests may fluctuate. Depending on the distribution policy of a Share Class, the investment income of the relevant Share Class is based on the income earned on the securities the Fund holds, less expenses incurred. Therefore, the relevant Share Class's investment income may be expected to fluctuate in response to changes in such expenses or investment income. The Fund's investment portfolio may fall in value due to any of the key risk factors below and therefore your investment in the Fund may suffer losses. There is no guarantee of the repayment of principal.

2. Equity Market Risk

The Fund's investment in equity securities is subject to general market risks, whose value may fluctuate due to various factors, such as changes in investment sentiment, political and economic conditions and issuer-specific factors.

3. Proprietary Trading Model Risk

- The Fund uses a proprietary mathematical process to implement its investment objective. This process does not guarantee any particular results and may result in losses to the Fund.
- Additionally, the rebalancing techniques used by the Sub-Investment Adviser may result in a higher portfolio turnover rate and related transactions costs compared to traditional “buy and hold” or index fund strategies. A higher portfolio turnover rate increases the likelihood of higher gains or losses for investors.
- There is a risk that if the Sub-Investment Adviser’s method of identifying stocks with higher volatility than the benchmark or its method of identifying stocks that tend to move in the same or opposite direction relative to each other (correlation) does not result in selecting stocks with continuing volatility or expected correlation, the Fund may not outperform the benchmark index, but may in fact underperform or match the performance of the benchmark index.

4. Concentration of Investments

The Fund seeks to maintain a diversified portfolio of investments. However, as the Fund invests at least 80% of its net asset value in equities and equity related securities of US companies, it may be less diversified in its investments than other funds. The value of the Fund may be more volatile than that of a fund having a more diverse portfolio of investments. Increased concentration of investments by the Fund will increase the risk of the Fund suffering proportionately higher loss should a particular investment decline in value or otherwise be adversely affected. The value of the Fund may be more susceptible to adverse economic, political, policy, foreign exchange, liquidity, tax, legal or regulatory event affecting the relevant market.

5. Risks associated with securities financing transactions

- Engaging in securities financing transactions leads to credit risk exposure for the Fund. In order to mitigate this exposure, counterparties are required to provide high quality and liquid collateral cover. However, the Fund may still be subject to the risks as described below. Possible events of default by a counterparty, combined with a fall in the value of the collateral below that of the value of the securities subject to the relevant securities financing transaction, may result in a reduction in the net asset value of the Fund.
- Risks relating to securities lending transactions: Securities lending transactions may involve the risk that the borrower may fail to return the securities lent out in a timely manner and the value of the collateral may fall below the value of the securities lent out, and the borrower may not provide additional collateral when required.
- Risks relating to sale and repurchase transactions: In the event of the failure of the counterparty with which collateral has been placed, the Fund may suffer loss as there may be delays in recovering collateral placed out or the cash originally received may be less than the collateral placed with the counterparty due to inaccurate pricing of the collateral or market movements.
- Risks relating to reverse repurchase transactions: In the event of the failure of the counterparty with which cash has been placed, the Fund may suffer loss as there may be delay in recovering cash placed out or difficulty in realising collateral or proceeds from the sale of the collateral may be less than the cash placed with the counterparty due to inaccurate pricing of the collateral or market movements, and the relevant counterparty may not provide additional collateral when required.

6. Risk of Investing in FDI

The Fund may enter into FDI for efficient portfolio management and hedging purposes. Such instruments, in general, involve special risks (e.g. counterparty, liquidity, leverage, credit risk, etc.) and costs. The use of FDI for the aforementioned purposes may become ineffective and may result in losses to the Fund.

7. Currency Risk and Currency Hedging Risk

As long as the Fund holds securities denominated in a currency other than the base currency of the Fund, the Fund’s value will be affected by the value of the local currency relative to the base currency. Also, a share class may be designated in a currency other than the base currency of the Fund. The net asset value of the Fund may be affected unfavourably by fluctuations in the exchange rates between these currencies and the base currency and by changes in exchange rate controls. In such instances, the Fund may apply currency hedging techniques, including the use of currency forward contracts, in order to limit the currency exposure between the currencies of the Fund's investment portfolio and the base currency. However, this may not be possible or practicable in all cases.

How has the Fund performed?

- Past performance information is not indicative of future performance. Investors may not get back the full amount invested.
- The computation basis of the performance is based on the calendar year end, NAV to NAV, with dividend reinvested.
- These figures show by how much the share class increased or decreased in value during the calendar year being shown. Performance data has been calculated in USD, including ongoing charges and excluding subscription fee, switching fee and redemption fee you might have to pay.
- The benchmark of the Fund is S&P 500® Index.
- Fund launch date: 25 April 2003.
- Class A2 USD launch date: 25 April 2003.
- The Investment Adviser views Class A2 USD, being the retail share class denominated in the Fund's base currency and available to the public of Hong Kong, as the most appropriate representative share class.
- The past performance information regarding the other share classes (where available) can be obtained through www.janushenderson.com. This website has not been reviewed by the SFC.
